INTRODUCTION

This report contains the results of the second Retail Commodity Survey. Formerly, commodity detail was collected as part of the Census of Merchandising and Services; however, because of the restricted range of commodity information collected by the Census and because of the growing interest in commodity statistics, the present extensive survey was established.

It is important to realize that this survey represents an activity study of the business surveyed. As such, it raised the problem for most businesses, of reporting data not readily available under normal accounting practices. Many businesses reviewed purchase invoices or examined inventory movements for the information required, others used their best estimates. Despite these problems of reporting, the overall response rate exceeded 73% of businesses surveyed. For known chains and department stores which were all surveyed, the response rate was 100%. Many thousands of businesses co-operated in this survey by supplying the information requested and by doing so with a minimum of delay; their contribution is gratefully acknowledged.

The Reporting Unit

Statistics on Merchandising and Services businesses are presented under two concepts, "Location" and "Establishment". Location statistics show every separate place of business in its own kind of business (KOB) classification; while establishment statistics comprise the accounting entity, which measures the sales activities in one or more business locations, not necessarily all in the same industrial sector (i.e., retail trade) or kind of business. A retail establishment is classified in total to the kind of business which comprises its major activity. The data reported by establishments having more than one trading location may therefore include business activities in more than one kind of business, possibly in more than one province and in other economic activities as well. For this reason, the results of the 1974 Retail Commodity Survey, which is based on the establishment, will not necessarily be comparable, at the kind of business level nor at the provincial level, with the results by location-based surveys of retail trade.

Questionnaires

In order to facilitate the collection of detailed commodity information and at the same time alleviate

Le présent bulletin renferme les résultats de la deuxième enquête sur les marchandises vendues au détail. La statistique des marchandises était autrefois recueillie au cours du recensement du commerce et des services; toutefois, du fait que le recensement produisait une gamme restreinte de renseignements sur les marchandises et en raison de l'intérêt croissant manifesté pour la statistique des marchandises, la présente enquête, plus approfondie, a été instituée.

Il faut d'abord se rendre compte que l'enquête en question constitue une étude des activités des entreprises interrogées. De ce fait, elle a soulevé pour la plupart des entreprises le problème de déclarer des données qu'une comptabilité ordinaire ne révèle pas immédiatement. Nombre d'entreprises ont dû ré-examiner leurs factures d'achat ou étudier les mouvements de leurs stocks afin de nous fournir les renseignements: d'autres nous ont soumis leurs meilleures estimations. Malgré ces problèmes de déclaration, le taux global de réponse dépassait 73 % des entreprises enquêtées. Les magasins à succursales multiples et les grands magasins connus qui ont tous été sélectionnés, mais ont tous répondu. Des milliers d'entreprises ont participé à l'enquête produisant les renseignements voulus dans les plus brefs délais. Leur contribution nous est précieuse et nous les en remercions.

L'unité déclarante

Les statistiques des entreprises du commerce et des services sont compilées selon deux concepts, "le local d'affaires" et "l'établissement". Les statistiques suivant le local d'affaires portent sur chaque point de vente distinct d'une entreprise classé selon son genre de commerce tandis que les statistiques suivant l'établissement visent l'entité comptable qui rapporte les ventes d'un ou plusieurs locaux d'affaires ne faisant pas nécessairement partie d'une même activité économique (c-à-d., le commerce de détail) ou d'un même genre de commerce. Cependant l'établissement de détail est classifié en entier dans le genre de commerce qui couvre son activité principale. Ainsi, les données déclarées par un établissement possédant plus d'un point de vente peuvent englober les activités commerciales de plusieurs genres de commerce et peut-être bien d'autres activités économiques. C'est pour cette raison que les résultats de l'enquête de 1974 sur les marchandises vendues au détail, qui est fondée sur l'établissement, ne seront pas nécessairement comparables, ni au niveau du genre de commerce, ni au niveau de la province, à ceux des enquêtes sur le commerce de détail fondées sur les locaux d'affaires.

Questionnaires

Afin de faciliter la collecte de renseignements détaillés sur les marchandises et en même temps alléger le

the reporting burden on respondents, specialized questionnaires were developed and used for the first time in the 1974 survey. Retailers in the five major groups: food, automotive, apparel and accessories, hardware and home furnishings, and other retail stores received questionnaires which asked for detailed information in their specific area of trade and only limited information on other sales activities. Retailers in the general merchandise group (sixth major group) were mailed questionnaires in which the complete commodity listing was provided.

In addition, a special questionnaire was developed for use by inter-provincial businesses. This eliminated the need to send a separate questionnaire for each province in which the business operated retail stores (as was the previous practice) and ensured that all such businesses could provide information on their total retailing activities on one simplified form.

Commodity Groups

The specialized questionnaires were designed to obtain the commodity information at three levels of reporting: Major group, group and sub-group. There are eight major groups and 54 groups. Thirty-five of the 54 groups were divided into sub-groups.

As already mentioned, respondents received questionnaires designed to ask detailed information only in their specific area of trade and limited information on other sales activities, for this reason detailed information on commodity items not considered pertinent to the business being surveyed was not requested or obtained; e.g., detailed commodity items (at the group, or the sub-group level) relating to food were not requested on the specialized questionnaire sent to businesses in the "Apparel and Dry Goods Group". However, since all questionnaires were designed to ask information at each of the eight major group levels, any food sold by businesses in the "Apparel and Dry Goods Group" would be reported at the major group level but not below.

Both in Table 2 and 3, the eight major groups add up to total net sales and receipts. Since only 35 of the 54 groups were broken down into sub-groups, sub-groups are not additive to the major group level, nor to total net sales and receipts. In Table 2, groups add up to major groups and sub-groups add up to groups. In Table 3, however, since the data cover all kinds of businesses, and since many businesses did not have to report commodity detail below the major groups or fardeau des répondants, on a élaboré des questionnaires spécialisés qui furent utilisés pour la première fois lors de l'enquête de 1974. Les détaillants des cinq branches: alimentation, automobiles, vêtements et accessoires, quincaillerie et meubles, et autres magasins de détail ont reçu des questionnaires demandant des renseignements précis concernant leur secteur de commerce particulier et des renseignements restreints sur leurs autres activités de vente. Le questionnaire envoyé aux détaillants du groupe de marchandises diverses (sixième branche) comportait une liste exhaustive des produits.

De plus, on a élaboré un questionnaire spécial pour les entreprises interprovinciales, évitant ainsi d'envoyer un questionnaire distinct pour chaque province dans laquelle cette entreprise exploitait des magasins de détail (comme on le faisait auparavant). Cela permit à toutes ces entreprises de fournir des renseignements sur l'ensemble de leurs activités de vente au détail grâce à une seule formule simplifiée.

Regroupement des marchandises

Les questionnaires spécialisés demandaient des renseignements à trois niveaux de détail: le groupe majeur, le groupe et le sous-groupe. Il y a huit groupes majeurs et 54 groupes; 35 de ces 54 groupes sont divisés en sous-groupes.

Comme nous l'avons déjà signalé, la plupart des entreprises enquêtées ont reçu des questionnaires demandant des renseignements précis concernant leur propre secteur d'activités et des renseignements plus généraux sur leurs autres activités de vente. Ainsi, des renseignements précis sur les marchandises qui n'étaient pas considérées comme importantes pour ses entreprises, n'ont pas été requis, ni obtenus. Par exemple, aucune information détaillée (ni au niveau du groupe, ni au niveau du sous-groupe) sur la vente d'aliments n'était requise dans les questionnaires envoyés aux entreprises de la branche "vêtements et accessoires". Mais, comme chaque questionnaire demandait des renseignements pour chacun des huit groupes majeurs, toute vente d'aliments par les entreprises de cette branche était rapportée au niveau du groupe majeur.

À chacun des tableaux 2 et 3, nous obtenons l'ensemble des ventes et des recettes nettes, en additionnant les huit groupes majeurs. Mais les sous-groupes ne peuvent s'additionner ni au niveau du groupe majeur, ni au niveau de l'ensemble des ventes et des recettes nettes, puisque seuls 35 des 54 groupes ont été décomposés en sous-groupes. De plus, au tableau 2, en additionnant les groupes appartenant à un même groupe majeur, nous obtenons le groupe majeur; en additionnant les sous-groupes appartegroup levels, groups will not add up to major groups and sub-groups will not add up to groups.

Methodology

The retail trade universe is classified into 21 Standard Industrial Classification codes (SIC) in the range 631 to 699.<sup>1</sup>

Each of these SIC codes consists of one or many Kinds of Business (KOB): there are 94 KOB's. One SIC, and consequently three KOB's, was excluded from this survey, liquor, wine and beer stores. All of the remaining 91 kinds of business were included in the sample frame but were then re-arranged for purpose of publication into only 56 kinds of business (see Table 1).

A stratified simple random sample of 43,000 retail establishments were selected without replacement from among 115,000 establishments classified to the retail sector on a central file of employers maintained by Statistics Canada. Chain and department stores were included in the sample with a probability of one. A randomly selected sub-sample of non-respondents as of a pre-specified date were followed up by telephone and/or personal interviews.

The sample design was such that unbiased statistics, of estimable precision<sup>2</sup> for total net sales and receipts, could be obtained for each SIC code, at the national level. These statistics were obtained by inflating the sales of each sampled unit by the inverse of the selection probability of the unit. Statistics at a lower level of aggregation, about which statements concerning precision cannot be made, have been derived in a manner that ensures additivity to the SIC, Canada level. This sampling design was used because of the excessive cost involved in using a design which provides unbiased statistics, of comparable precision, at the KOB and province level.

The central file of employers, mentioned earlier, does not include zero-employee businesses. Thus, to the estimates mentioned in the preceding paragraph,

<sup>2</sup> An unbiased statistic, when averaged over all possible samples of the same size will equal the value being estimated assuring that the statistic published is a measure of the value being estimated. Having estimable precision, allows statements to be made concerning the possible difference between the statistic and the value being estimated.

nant à un même groupe, nous obtenons ce groupe. Cependant, au tableau 3, puisque les chiffres couvrent tous les genres de commerce et puisque la plupart des entreprises ne devaient rapporter la vente de certains produits qu'au niveau du groupe majeur ou du groupe, la somme des groupes appartenant à un même groupe majeur sera inférieure au groupe majeur et la somme des sous-groupes sera inférieure au groupe correspondant.

Méthodologie

La population du commerce de détail est classifiée en 21 classes d'activité économique (C.A.É.) dans la tranche 631 à 699<sup>1</sup>.

Chacune de ces classes se divise en genres de commerce (G.D.C.): il y a 94 genres de commerce. Une classe d'activité économique, et parallèlement trois genres de commerce, a été exclue de cette enquête-ci: les magasins d'alcools, de bières et de vins. L'enquête a porté sur les 91 autres genres de commerce. Pour fins de publication, ce nombre a été réduit à 56 par regroupement (voir le tableau 1).

Un échantillon aléatoire stratifié de 43,000 établissements a été choisi, sans remise, de 115,000 établissements qui figurent dans le secteur de vente au détail sur un fichier d'employeurs conservé par Statistique Canada. Les magasins à succursales multiples et les grands magasins sont compris dans l'échantillon avec une probabilité unitaire. Un sous-échantillon d'établissements qui n'avaient pas répondu, à une date prédéterminée, a fait l'objet d'un suivi par téléphone et (ou) d'interview en personne.

Le plan d'échantillonnage fut tel que nous puissions obtenir des statistiques non-biaisées, d'une précision appréciable<sup>2</sup> sur l'ensemble des ventes et des recettes nettes; ces statistiques furent obtenues au niveau de la C.A.É., à l'échelle nationale, en gonflant les ventes de chaque unité enquêtée par l'inverse de la probabilité de sélection de l'unité. Les estimations appartenant à des regroupements inférieurs, sur la précision desquelles on ne peut se prononcer, ont été traitées de façons qu'elles puissent s'additionner au niveau de la C.A.É., à l'échelle nationale. Ce plan d'échantillonnage fut adopté en raison du coût prohibitif qu'aurait exigé un plan fournissant des statistiques non-biaisées, d'une précision comparable à celle de ce plan-ci, au niveau du genre de commerce et de la province.

La liste d'employeurs, mentionnée plus tôt, ne comprenait pas les entreprises qui n'engageaient pas d'employés (entreprises familiales). Aux estimations mentionnées au paragraphe précédent, nous avons donc ajouté des estimations découlant d'un échantillon aréolaire, tiré de la partie correspondante de l'enquête mensuelle du commerce de détail<sup>3</sup>. Aucune mesure de précision pour ces estimations d'échantillon aréolaire n'est disponible.

Le tableau ci-dessous résume les résultats de l'enquête au niveau de la C.A.E. à l'échelle nationale, et donne l'intervalle<sup>4</sup> de confiance de 95 % pour les estimations d'échantillon non-aréolaire.

Note: The large confidence intervals in certain Standard Industrial Classifications (e.g., 678, 699) are due to errors in classifications when the sample was selected. In other cases (e.g. 663, 681), they are due to the presence of "large" units in the probability sample. Nota: Les grands intervalles constatés dans certaines activités économiques (par ex., 678 et 699) découlent d'erreurs de classification lorsque l'échantillon a été choisi. Ailleurs (par ex., 663 et 681), ils sont attribuables à la présence de "grandes" unités dans le sondage probabiliste.

Comparison of Sales Figures

Estimates of "total net sales and receipts" in the retail sector of the economy have already been published for the year 1974.<sup>5</sup> We shall refer to these already-published estimates as the "current retail trade" estimates. An extensive study has been made on the difference between the current retail trade estimates and the retail commodity estimates, and the major causes for the discrepancies are listed below.

Comparaison des chiffres de vente

1. Differences in the overall total sales estimates. By "overall total sales," we mean the estimates of total net sales and receipts for the retail sector of the economy, in 1974, i.e., over all provinces and over all kinds of business.

(a) The two estimates were obtained from samples and are thus subject to sampling variations. These variations are not the same because not all the sampled units were common to both samples and the sampling schemes were not the same. The sampling scheme for the retail commodity survey was described in the section on Methodology, for the current retail trade survey, the reader can refer to Retail Trade, Catalogue 63-005.

(b) Liquor, wine and beer stores were excluded from the retail commodity survey. They accounted for $1.765 billion in 1974.

(c) The current retail trade estimates are derived from a monthly survey which, like all monthly surveys,<sup>6</sup> suffers from a "time lag" effect which results in estimates with a downward bias, for two reasons:

(i) Re-birthing of deaths that occur in the survey frame. If a business undergoes a change in ownership (for example)<sup>7</sup> the business is recorded as a death and then as a birth, but there is a delay in bringing in the birth which can involve a period of months, and the sales data lost by the delay is not retrieved once the birth becomes part of the survey frame.

(ii) Identifying new businesses that started up during the year, particularly toward the end of the year. These businesses might not appear in the current retail trade frame until the year following the birth. Consequently, they would appear to be businesses that were "missed" in the year of their birth. The 1974 Retail Commodity Survey does not suffer from these problems because the survey was conducted, not during the business year 1974 (as was the case with the current retail monthly survey) but during a) Les deux estimations ont été obtenues à partir d'un échantillon et elles sont sujettes à des variations d'échantillonnage. Chacun des deux échantillons a une variation propre: les unités choisies ne sont pas les mêmes, les plans d'échantillonnage ne sont pas les mêmes. Le plan d'échantillonnage pour l'enquête sur les marchandises a été décrit à la section "méthodologie"; celui de l'enquête courante du commerce de détail est décrit dans le bulletin, Commerce de détail, n° 63-005 au catalogue.

1. Discordances au niveau global. Par niveau global, nous entendons l'ensemble des ventes et des recettes nettes du commerce de détail pour 1974 i.e., englobant toutes les provinces et tous les genres de commerce.

b) Les magasins d'alcools, de bières et de vins ne sont pas compris dans l'enquête sur les marchandises. Ils figurent pour $1.765 milliards de ventes en 1974.

c) Les estimations courantes du commerce de détail sont tirées d'une enquête mensuelle qui, comme toutes les enquêtes de même périodicité<sup>6</sup>, accuse un décalage. Ce décalage est la cause d'un biais négatif des estimations courantes et est causé par:

(i) Réapparition d'unités "mortes". Si un commerce change de propriétaire, par exemple<sup>7</sup>, ce commerce devient une "mort" pour l'enquête courante. Ensuite, une nouvelle fiche est ajoutée à l'enquête. Il est possible qu'il y ait un décalage de quelques mois entre la disparition et la réapparition de ce commerce dans l'enquête. Ce commerce faisant partie de l'enquête à nouveau, les ventes mensuelles perdues par le décalage, ne sont pas toujours récupérées.

(ii) Identification des commerces ayant commencé leurs opérations durant l'année, en particulier, vers la fin de l'année. Il est possible que ces nouvelles entreprises n'apparaissent dans la base de l'enquête que tard en 1974. Par conséquent, ces entreprises peuvent être omises des résultats pour l'année 1974. Comme l'enquête sur les marchandises a eu lieu en 1975, elle n'a pas souffert de ces problèmes. Ainsi, l'enquête sur les marchandises comprenaient la majorité de ces entreprises qui soit ont subi des changements en 1974, soit ont commencé en 1974. Ce

<sup>6</sup> See, for example, "Evaluation Studies of the U.S. Economic Censuses" S. Kallek, H. Nisselson, T.R. Sturdevant U.S. Bureau of the Census. Presented at Meeting of the International Statistical Institute, Sept. 1975.

1975. Therefore, the Commodity Survey included in its frame all those businesses that started up in 1974, or underwent changes that led to a death and a birth. The "time lag" effect was found to account for the greatest proportion of the discrepancies between the surveys.

décalage est responsable de la plupart des discordances entre les deux enquêtes.

- (d) The current retail trade survey gathered data based on the calendar year 1974, while the retail commodity survey gathered data based either on the calendar year 1974 or on a fiscal year ending between April 1, 1974 and March 31, 1975.

- d) L'enquête courante du commerce de détail a recueilli des données pour chaque mois de 1974. L'enquête sur les marchandises vendues au détail a recueilli des données soit pour l'année civile, 1974, soit pour l'exercice financier se terminant entre le premier avril 1974 et le 31 mars 1975.

2. Differences in sales estimates by kind of business (K.O.B.):

2. Discordances au niveau du genre de commerce (G.D.C.):

- (a) The reporting units used in the two surveys are not the same. The retail commodity survey was based on the "establishment" while the current retail trade survey is based on the "locations" which do not necessarily aggregate to establishments. This point was explained in the section on "the reporting unit".
- (b) As mentioned earlier, there are 94 kinds of business in the retail trade universe. Three of these were excluded from the retail commodity survey and the remaining 91 were grouped into only 56 kinds of business. The current retail trade survey arranges the 94 kinds of business into 28 groups. While groups of kinds of business are compatible in some cases, comparisons between the two surveys can only be based on sets of groups in other cases.
- (c) In addition to the preceding point, there are differences in the kind of business assigned to a company in each survey. A commodity survey collects more information for accurate classification than does a survey that collects, on a continuous basis, only total net sales and receipts.

- a) Les unités déclarantes des deux enquêtes ne sont pas les mêmes. L'enquête sur les marchandises vendues au détail portait sur l'établissement tandis que l'enquête courante du commerce de détail portait sur les locaux d'affaires, qui ne se comparent pas nécessairement aux établissements. Ce point a été développé à la section, "unité déclarante".
- b) Comme nous l'avons mentionné auparavant, la population du commerce de détail se divise en 94 genres de commerces. Trois de ces genres de commerce ont été exclus de l'enquête sur les marchandises vendues au détail et les 91 genres de commerces ont été groupés en 56 unités de publication. L'enquête courante du commerce regroupe en 28 unités de publications. Dans certains cas les unités de publication de l'enquête courante sont comparables à celles de l'enquête sur les marchandises. Mais dans d'autres cas, les résultats des deux enquêtes ne sont comparables qu'au niveau d'ensembles d'unités de publication.
- c) Toute entreprise peut-être classée différemment par les deux enquêtes. L'enquête sur les marchandises recueillait des informations permettant une classification des entreprises plus juste que l'enquête courante qui ne recueille que les ventes et les recettes nettes, sur une base continue.

3. Differences in sales estimates by province:

3. Discordances au niveau de la province:

- (a) Table 3 presents the distribution of sales figures by commodities, over all the provinces. Comparisons between the two surveys of total net sales and receipts at the provincial level will show that the distributions across provinces are reasonably close.
- (b) Estimates of total net sales and receipts by KOB are not necessarily comparable because of the differences in classification and grouping identified in 2 above.

- a) Le tableau 3 donne la distribution des ventes par sorte de marchandises pour chaque province. En comparant les ventes et recettes nettes de ce tableau à celles de l'enquête courante, on remarquera que les deux ensembles de chiffres sont raisonnablement près l'un de l'autre.
- b) Suite aux différences au niveau du genre de commerce mentionnées ci-haut une comparaison des ventes et des recettes nettes au niveau du genre de commerce dans chaque province n'est pas justifiée.
